

>> MSOM PROGRAM

The MSOM program at Dongguk University can be completed in three years and is therefore ideal for full-time students eager to become licensed practitioners (students with other commitments may also attend part-time). First-year students focus on academics, learning the building blocks of Oriental Medicine, Herbology, and Western Medicine. In the second year, students begin the observation portion of their clinical training, shadowing and learning from more advanced students and clinical supervisors. Studies continue with advanced instruction in Oriental and Western Medicine and Herbology. By the third year, students are actively participating in the clinic, taking patients and working with supervisors on the best treatment strategies. Academics during the final year focus on the most advanced training, specialized topics, practice management, and electives.

President of DULA | Dr. Lee, Seung Deok

>> BACKGROUND OF DONGGUK

Dongguk (which translates to "East Nation") University, one of South Korea's oldest and one of the nation's eleven prestigious medical schools, widely esteemed for its outstanding College of Oriental Medicine, adopted Dongguk University Los Angeles to develop collaborative benefits between the sister institutions. Collectively, these two institutions, on either side of the Pacific, have been providing outstanding education to students throughout the world.

Dongguk University of Los Angeles is a non profit oriental medicine university, located in central Los Angeles, CA
